

On Russia, Trump and his top aides appear at odds

The president’s desire for warm relations with Moscow stands as one of the few major foreign policy positions that he has not discarded or revised since taking office, much to the chagrin of some senior members of his administration who have excoriated the Kremlin.

By Greg Miller

U.S. tough talk belies its focus on diplomacy to contain Kim

The Trump administration is attempting to deliver a dual message on its thorny problems with North Korea: at once illustrating a willingness to employ force against a dangerous adversary while also steering clear of steps that could spiral out of control.

By Missy Ryan, Simon Denyer and Emily Rauhala

Analysis: White House allowed false story line to fester more than a week

Democrat Jon Ossoff leads in special House race in Georgia, but a runoff remains possible

For Ossoff to win outright in Tuesday night’s special election and avoid a runoff, where he would likely face a far more united Republican Party, he needs to garner at least 50 percent of the vote. Meanwhile, as midnight approached, technical difficulties stalled the vote count in Fulton County.

By Robert Costa

Johnny DeStefano in his Washington office April 5. (Jabin Botsford/The Washington Post)

This Beltway insider is in charge of hiring for the Trump administration. It’s taking a while.

Johnny DeStefano is the president’s official head hunter, responsible for filling up to 4,000 political jobs and ensuring that candidates pass the ultimate test in the Trump administration: loyalty.

By Lisa Rein

A month after dismissing federal prosecutors, Justice Department has no U.S. attorneys in place

There are 93 unfilled U.S. attorney positions, and Attorney General Jeff Sessions is also without people at the helm of his top units, including the civil rights, criminal and national security divisions.

By Sari Horwitz

Opinions

The Facebook murder was inevitable

By Kathleen Parker

Trump needs a dose of ‘manly virtues’

By David Ignatius

Dear Kim Jong Un: Watch out for Trump. He’s even crazier than you.

By Dana Milbank

France’s turmoil makes Brexit seem tame

By Sebastian Mallaby

So I was up in Alaska

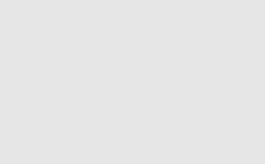

By Garrison Keillor

Erdogan’s ugly win could cause all kinds of problems — even for him

Editorial Board

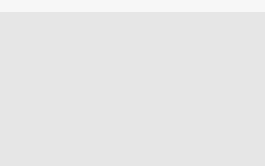

More Top Stories

Amid Trump’s threats over sanctuary cities, immigrant nexus Miami is first to fall in line

With billions in federal grants on the line, localities nationwide are reexamining policies that shield undocumented immigrants and other noncitizens from deportation. First to retreat was Miami-Dade County, where 51.7 percent of the residents are immigrants, and stunned advocates are considering their next move.

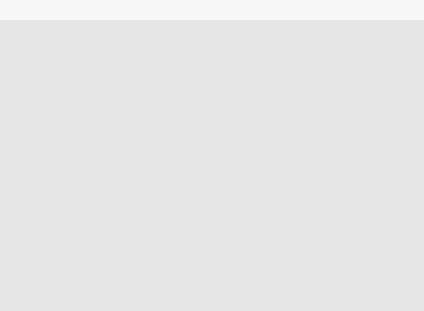

By Maria Sacchetti

Trump’s inaugural committee reports record-shattering fundraising of $107 million

The previous high was $53 million for President Barack Obama’s first inauguration in 2009.

By John Wagner

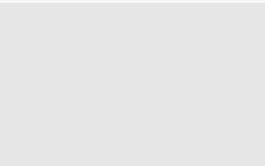

(Reuters)

Inside the manhunt for Facebook murder suspect Steve Stephens

It began with a 911 call on Sunday and ended with Stephens’s suicide on Tuesday. But in the 45 hours between, the manhunt for the suspect who broadcast a murder live on Facebook quickly swelled from a citywide tragedy in Cleveland to a nationwide concern as authorities warned residents in five states to be “on alert.”

By Lindsey Bever and Peter Holley

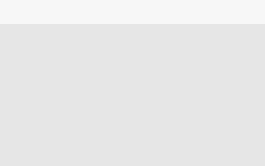

Sullivan: Facebook still denies what it is. The Cleveland murder shows how.

Adidas apologizes for email congratulating runners who ‘survived’ Boston Marathon

The annual race is just four years removed from the bombing that killed three people.

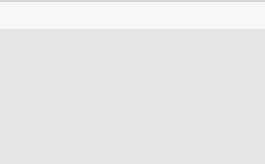

By Bryan Flaherty

3 people killed during ‘unprovoked’ shooting rampage in Fresno, Calif., police say

Police said they arrested a suspect, who was identified as Kori Ali Muhammad and described as a man with a lengthy criminal history who went out Tuesday intending to kill people.

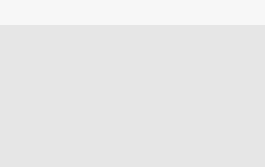

By Mark Berman

Bill O’Reilly’s Fox News future is increasingly in peril

The Murdoch family will ultimately decide the fate of the top-rated host, who has been off the air for the past week.

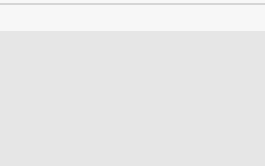

By Paul Farhi

The man behind the neo-Nazi Daily Stormer website is being sued by one of his ‘troll storm’ targets

A Montana woman says she received more than 700 harassing messages after Andrew Anglin’s neo-Nazi blog called for what she described as a “coordinated, repulsive, threatening campaign” against her and her family.

By Abby Ohlheiser

The Fix

She wanted her ex-husband to die with a happy thought so she told him Trump had been impeached

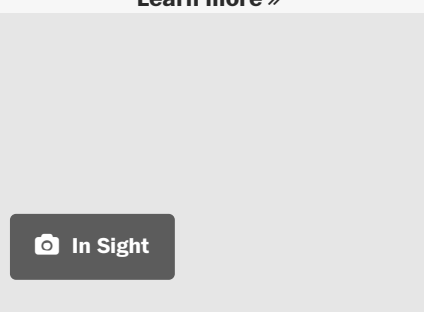

Michael Elliott, a longtime Democrat, found the president to be a “loathsome individual,” his ex-wife said.

By Kristine Phillips

Share news tips with us confidentially

Do you have information the public should know? Here are some ways you can securely send information and documents to Post journalists.

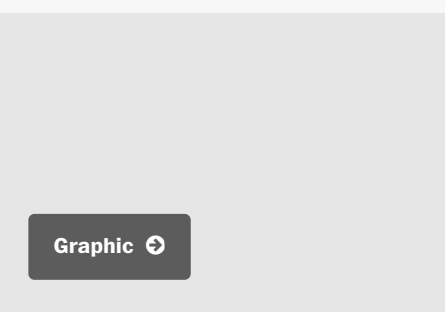

Learn more »

In Sight

(Jordi Pizarro)

These photos show what it’s like being a punk in Burma

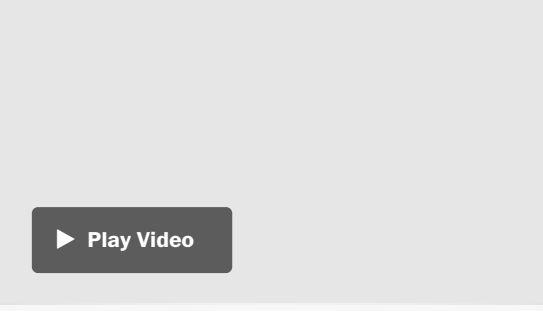

Graphic

(Kevin Schaul and Kevin Uhrmacher/Post)

These lawmakers might want to consider crossing the aisle in the 115th Congress

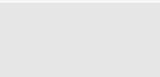

Video

Video

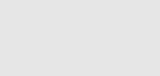

(The Washington Post)

Facebook murder suspect killed himself as police closed in

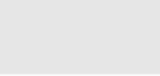

Inside Facebook: How developers say they police violent live content

► Play Video 1:55

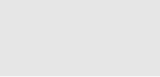

Trump’s leadership, temperament questioned in new poll results

► Play Video 1:29

Why scientists are worried about Trump

► Play Video 2:28

Late-night laughs: Trump’s first Easter Egg Roll

► Play Video 1:09

Most Read

- Democrat Jon Ossoff leads in special House race in Georgia, but a runoff remains possible
- A month after dismissing federal prosecutors, Justice Department does not have any U.S. attorneys in place
- Despite talk of a military strike, Trump’s ‘armada’ actually sailed away from Korea
- She wanted her ex-husband to die with a happy thought; she told him Trump had been impeached
- Trump makes rare effort to sell his ‘America first’ agenda outside Washington

Today’s Paper

Today’s print stories

View e-Replica edition

Market Watch

DJIA -0.55% NASDAQ -0.12%

Co. name or symbol

Last Update: 4:39 PM 04/19/2017 (DJIA&NASDAQ)

Get quote

Live Discussions

Show more

Weekly schedule, past shows

E-book

Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting: Uncovering Trump

In February 2016, presidential candidate Donald Trump promised $6 million in donations, including $1 million from his own pocket, to charities along his campaign trail. But by the time he won the New Hampshire primary, he had stopped giving away money and had donated far less than his pledged amount. Post reporter David A. Fahrenthold went in search of the missing money and found a bigger story than he ever expected.

Diversions

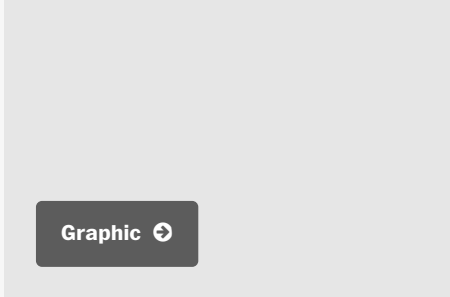

Comics	Eggz
Crosswords	Horoscopes
Mah Jongg	Solitaire
Sudoku	TV listings

From Our Advertisers

Content from Sub-Zero
Wasted Yet Wanted

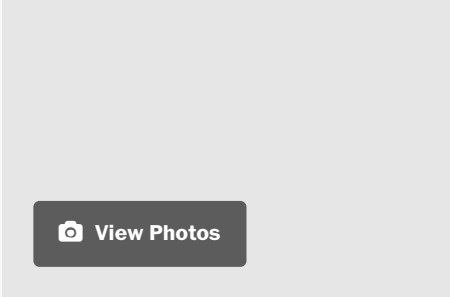

Content from NAREIT
REITS connect your world

Content from Wells Fargo
Gifting equity in a home

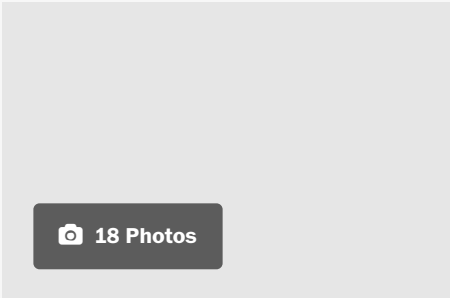

(Post)

How realistic are N.Y. apartments from ‘Girls’ to ‘I Love Lucy’?

(Chris Jackson/Getty Images)

Here are 25 of the week’s best photos

(Robyn Beck/AFP/Getty Images)

Photos of the spectacular and colorful ‘super bloom’ in California

(Jabin Botsford, Melina Mara/The Washington Post)

The scene at the White House during President Trump’s first Easter Egg Roll

Politics	World	National	PostEverything
Hearing first arguments as member of the Supreme Court, Gorsuch jumps right in This Beltway insider is in charge of hiring for the Trump administration. It’s taking a while. White House defends Trump’s congratulatory call to Turkey’s Erdogan DNC Chairman Tom Perez explains why he uses four-letter words on the stump	Hallmarks of Soviet postwar building boom are finally meeting their demise U.S. tough talk belies its focus on diplomacy to contain Kim On Russia, Trump and his top national security aides seem to be at odds British prime minister calls for elections in June amid Brexit fallout	Iowa’s most expansive gun rights bill ever is now law A month after dismissing federal prosecutors, Justice Department does not have any U.S. attorneys in place ‘We have our closure’: Facebook murder suspect killed himself after police pursuit in Pennsylvania April the giraffe suffered an injury, putting an end to her live stream	Perspective Did President Trump do something wrong in congratulating Erdogan on the Turkish referendum? Perspective Don’t evict tenants who smoke. People can’t quit at will. Perspective Catholic immigrants didn’t make it on their own. They shouldn’t expect others to. Perspective Head winds and tail winds: Assessing the current economy
Local	Sports	Lifestyle	Arts
17-hour standoff involving man, 2 children ends, Fairfax police say Perspective Two sisters aim to bring a bit of Africa, and some flavor, to D.C. Army has identified those in helicopter crash Monday Perriello’s Va. governor bid boosted by several big donors, including George Soros	Perspective Those who know Capitals’ playoff history are condemned to be haunted by it Nationals hold off Braves despite another dicey night from Blake Treinen No. 1 Osborn Park holds off Battlefield for 33rd straight win Perspective The Wizards took the Hawks’ punch in Game 1. Here comes the combination.	Brands want to capitalize on 4/20 munchies. Pot advocates say it’s time to grow up. Perspective Facebook still denies what it is. The Cleveland murder shows how. Perspective I thought I was over my relationship — but then I did my taxes Perspective Carolyn Hax: How parents can overcome their favoritism, and why they should	Review Having it all as the first female playwright in ‘Or,’ Meet America’s most extraordinary family: The Lowells Review Hub Theatre’s ‘The Late Wedding’ is daring, but tends toward tedious Elizabeth Kostova takes us on another European adventure in ‘The Shadow Land’
			Technology Samsung’s Galaxy S8 gives it a shot at reputation rehabilitation D.C. appeals court poised to rule on whether police need warrants for cellphone tracking What Windows users should know about the latest bugs revealed by NSA leakers Analysis What you’re really agreeing to when you accept your smart TV’s privacy policy

Business	Federal Government	Real Estate
Flights, massages and other freebies to enjoy on Tax Day Perspective The college graduate with a double major — and no debt The newest Silicon Valley perk? Paid time off to protest Trump. Read the latest from Capital Business	Perspective Despite rhetoric, Trump plan focuses more on staff cuts than good government Perspective Trump gets a VA headache: ‘serious deficiencies’ at D.C. hospital Trump can start cutting the federal workforce right now Perspective USPS agrees to $49 million settlement after having long ‘dawdled’ in payments to beneficiaries	Analysis What you should know when thinking about becoming a landlord in retirement Perspective Why home sellers may want to be wary of a potential buyer’s pre-approval letter Northern Virginia housing fair to target first-time buyers A top-to-bottom list of what to check outside your home post winter

