

The Washington Post

Democracy Dies in Darkness

In the NewsWilliams syndromeSan BernardinoTeacher firedJ. GeillsOfficer's body slamUnitedTrump tradeFamine threat'Underground'Bus explosionBBC

EXCLUSIVE

FBI obtained secret warrant last summer to monitor Trump adviser Carter Page

The court order, issued by the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court, allowed agents to monitor Page's communications, officials said. The order is the first indication that the FBI had reason to believe during the 2016 presidential campaign that a Trump campaign adviser was in touch with Russian agents.

By Ellen Nakashima, Devlin Barrett and Adam Entous

- Trump campaign's Russia ties: Who's involved

(Photo by Jabin Botsford/Post; video by Reuters)

Spicer apologizes after receiving sharp criticism for saying Hitler didn't use chemical weapons

The White House press secretary had criticized Syrian President Bashar al-Assad's alleged use of chemical weapons, saying that even Adolf Hitler — who used gas chambers to kill millions of Jews — did not sink to that level of warfare and “was not using the gas on his own people in the same way that Assad is doing.”

By Jenna Johnson and Ashley Parker

- Hitler refused to use sarin during WWII. The mystery is why.

U.S. says new evidence discredits Russia's claim on sarin attack

The Trump administration declassified an intelligence report to counter Moscow's explanation for the deadly attack, pointing to evidence that a Russian-made, Syrian-piloted aircraft dropped at least one munition carrying the nerve agent sarin. “I think it's clear that the Russians are trying to cover up what happened there,” one official said.

By Missy Ryan, Greg Jaffe and Dan Lamothe

The Fix Analysis

Trump just made some very strange comments about Stephen Bannon

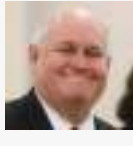

“I like Steve, but you have to remember he was not involved in my campaign until very late,” Trump said. And then he appeared to threaten Bannon's job.

By Aaron Blake

Republicans fend off strong challenge to hold on to House seat from Kansas

State Treasurer Ron Estes was aided by a last-minute surge of support from national Republicans and outside groups after polls showed him in a close race against a Democrat making his first run for office.

By David Weigel

Opinions

Julian Assange: WikiLeaks has the same mission as The Post and the Times

By Julian Assange

There's a quick and easy way to see Trump's tax returns

By Daniel Hemel

The Twitter mob serves a purpose. Bill O'Reilly and United prove it.

By Kathleen Parker

United's new pre-flight checklist

By Alexandra Petri

Trump got Syria and China right last week. That's a start.

By David Ignatius

The White House is getting smarter on Russia — but still has a lot to learn

Editorial Board

More Top Stories

White House to lift hiring freeze, but tells federal agencies to craft plans to shrink their workforces

Office of Management and Budget Director Mick Mulvaney said agency leaders must start “taking immediate actions” to save money and reduce their staffs.

By Lisa Rein and Damian Paletta

Trump promised an ‘unpredictable’ foreign policy. To allies, it looks incoherent.

Anxious allies worry over Trump's lack of a clear direction for U.S. foreign policy — a dangerous tendency at a moment of high tension with Russia and Syria, and with U.S. warships heading toward the Korean peninsula.

By Kevin Sullivan and Karen Tumulty

Schumer: If Trump doesn't release his tax returns, 'it's going to make tax reform much harder'

The Senate minority leader also said Democrats oppose more military action in Syria because “we believe that our big focus has to be at home.”

By Ed O'Keefe

- Analysis: The Senate may be developing an electoral college issue

Rural America's dying hospitals

The demise of Haywood Park Community Hospital three years ago this summer added Brownsville, Tenn., to an epidemic of dying hospitals across rural America. Nearly 80 have closed since 2010, including nine in Tennessee.

By Amy Goldstein

(Michael S. Williamson / The Washington Post)

San Bernardino shooter was married 2 months and already separated from teacher he killed, police say

When officers arrived Monday at the California elementary school, the couple were dead. Police said Cedric Anderson entered the classroom, raised a large-caliber revolver and, without saying a word, opened fire, apparently targeting his wife. Two students were also struck, one fatally.

By Rob Kuznia, Lindsey Bever and Sandhya Somashekhar

- The boy killed in the shooting had a rare disorder — and rare gifts

USDA halts use of cyanide traps in Idaho after one harms a child and kills his dog

Opponents hope the action will lead to a permanent, nationwide ban on the devices that long have been used to kill predators that threaten livestock.

By Karin Brulliard

Rolling Stone settles with U-Va. dean in defamation case

Nicole Eramo's lawsuit accused the magazine of ruining her reputation in a 2014 story about an alleged gang rape on campus. The story was ultimately retracted after serious flaws were revealed.

By T. Rees Shapiro and Emma Brown

A clash of arms between U.S. and North Korea is unlikely, analysts say

The two countries are engaging in high-tension brinksmanship, with North Korea warning that it will “hit the U.S. first” with nuclear weapons, but the stakes remain too high for both countries to engage in conflict, analysts say.

By Anna Fifield

The Fix Analysis

Mitt Romney's 'binders full of women' are real. They weigh 15 pounds, 6 ounces.

An old gaffe resurfaces, but the discovery of the binders could make voters in deep-red Utah, where Romney might run for the Senate, nostalgic for a time when the chief criticism of the nation's top Republican was that he tried too hard to promote women.

By Callum Borchers

The Past, Retropolis Rediscovered

Hunting down runaway slaves: The cruel ads of Andrew Jackson and 'the master class'

Video

▶ Play Video

(Claritza Jimenez/The Washington Post)

What we know about the Paris airport attack

How a scandal brought down the Alabama governor

▶ Play Video 2:05

Post reporter David Fahrenthold wins Pulitzer Prize

▶ Play Video 1:30

How TV shows like 'Sesame Street' can help normalize autism

▶ Play Video 3:41

British scones for afternoon tea

▶ Play Video 1:55

Most Read

- 1

FBI obtained FISA warrant to monitor Trump adviser Carter Page
- 2

Analysis
Trump just made some very strange comments about Stephen K. Bannon
- 3

United Airlines CEO apologizes for 'horrific event,' promises review of policies after passenger violently deplaned
- 4

Spicer: Hitler 'didn't even sink to using chemical weapons,' although he sent Jews to 'the Holocaust center'
- 5

Republicans hang on to win Kansas House seat

Today's Paper

Today's print stories

View e-Replica edition

Market Watch

DJIA -0.03% NASDAQ -0.24%

Co. name or symbol

Last Update: 4:15 PM 04/12/2017(DJIA&NASDAQ)

Get quote

Live Discussions

Weekly schedule, past shows

E-book

Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting: Uncovering Trump

In February 2016, presidential candidate Donald Trump promised $6 million in donations, including $1 million from his own pocket, to charities along his campaign trail. But by the time he won the New Hampshire primary, he had stopped giving away money and had donated far less than his pledged amount. Post reporter David A. Fahrenthold went in search of the missing money and found a bigger story than he ever expected.

Diversions

Comics	Eggz
Crosswords	Horoscopes
Mah Jongg	Solitaire
Sudoku	TV listings

From Our Advertisers

Content from NAREIT
REITS connect your world

Content from UPS
Third-party logistics providers can make all the difference in cost, service

Content from Wells Fargo
Gifting equity in a home

A historian collecting thousands of runaway slave ads describes them as “the tweets of the master class” in the 18th and 19th centuries.

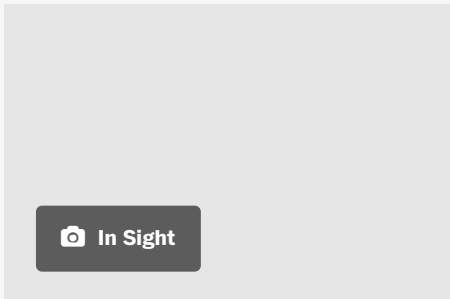

By DeNeen L. Brown ·

Share news tips with us confidentially

Do you have information the public should know? Here are some ways you can securely send information and documents to Post journalists.

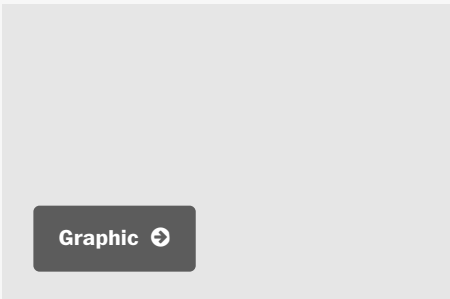

Learn more »

Visual Stories

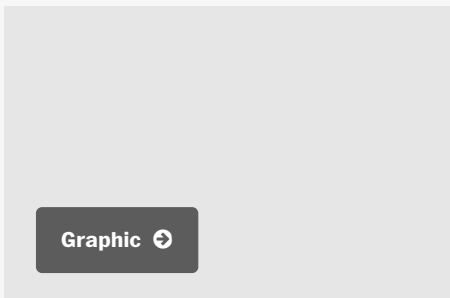

(Sarah L. Voisin/Post)

This is winter life on a cold Canadian island

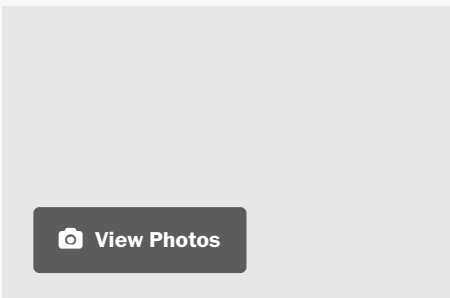

(Denise Lu and Armand Emamdjomeh/Post)

Local programs get the biggest hit in proposed EPA budget

(Bonnie Berkowitz; Denise Lu)

Here’s what we know so far about Team Trump’s ties to Russian interests

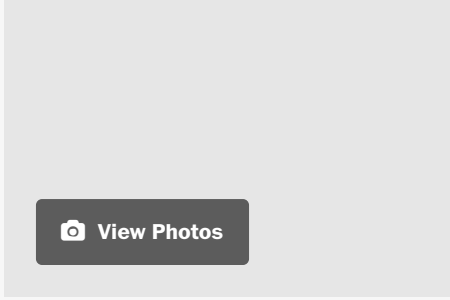

(Carlos Barria/Reuters)

Here are 29 of the week’s best photos

(Dan Kitwood/Getty Images)

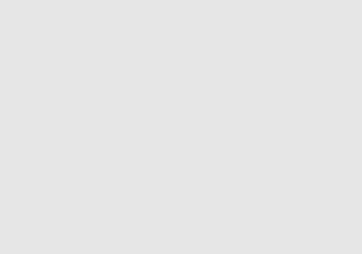

Photos of the royal family: William, Catherine, George and Charlotte

(Corcoran Group)

Inside the storied Grey Gardens estate

Politics

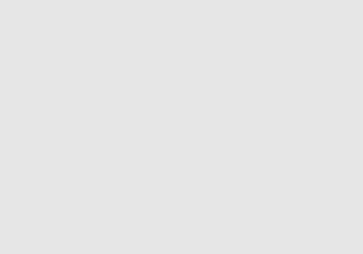

Sessions tells prosecutors to bring more cases against those entering U.S. illegally

Analysis
California lawmakers are setting up a sanctuary state and daring Trump to stop them. Can he?

Trump’s First 100 Days: Russia and probable cause

Analysis
Trump just made some very strange comments about Stephen K. Bannon

World

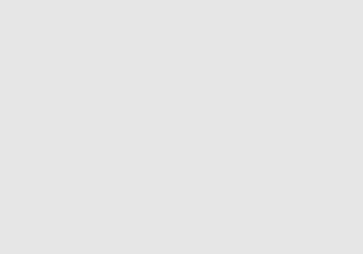

With both the U.S. and North Korea saber rattling, is conflict imminent?

‘Academic freedom is not negotiable’: American university in Hungary criticizes new law

Trump administration unveils intelligence discrediting Russia’s claims on chemical attack in Syria

FBI obtained FISA warrant to monitor Trump adviser Carter Page

National

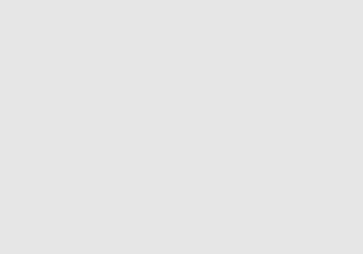

The boy killed in the San Bernardino school shooting had a rare disorder that causes challenges – and inspires creativity

LGBT advocates launch effort to block Trump’s ‘appalling’ Army secretary nominee

Analysis
Doctors once treated alcoholism with heroin. Now, they want to treat heroin addiction with marijuana.

Analysis
How fights over Trump have led evangelicals to leave their churches

PostEverything

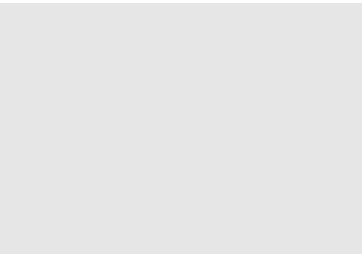

Perspective
Why would Assad use sarin in a war he’s winning? To terrify Syrians.

Analysis
If Gorsuch is like his colleagues, he’ll constantly interrupt the female justices

Analysis
Trump should let Syrian refugees in. But not because he feels sorry for them.

Perspective
Why the ordinary Nikki Haley is exercising extraordinary influence over American foreign policy

Local

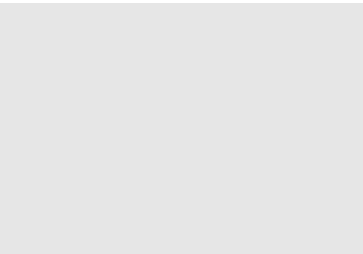

Trump Organization settles restaurant suit with second chef, Geoffrey Zakarian

Maryland man wins lottery twice at same Silver Spring convenience store

Officer is injured in incident on Birney Place SE

Man arrested in fatal stabbing in Southeast D.C.

Sports

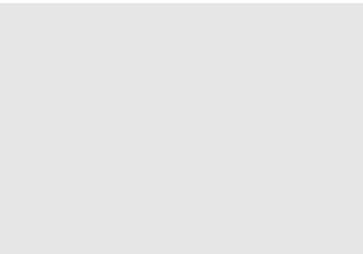

Perspective
Maryland president ‘would think’ UNC gets death penalty. One would think he is out to lunch.

Nationals IF Stephen Drew suffers right hamstring injury, likely to miss time

Lack of offense, bad defense doom Orioles in Boston

Wizards will face the Atlanta Hawks in the first round of the NBA playoffs

Lifestyle

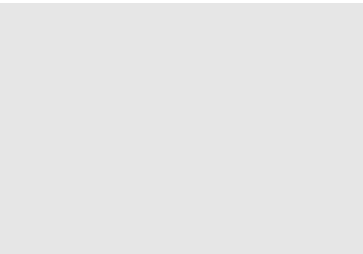

Of course those eyelashes are fake. And they’re spectacular.

After the United incident, passengers should know their rights. If bumped, ask for cash.

Why athletes should treat the brain like a muscle

Perspective
Carolyn Hax: Caring for a dying parent and mourning lost friendships

Arts

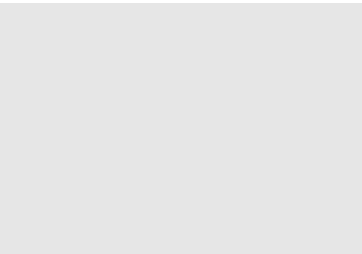

Review
Young local actors impress in ‘Brighton Beach Memoirs’ at Theater J

The fight between cosmetic legends Helena Rubinstein and Elizabeth Arden

‘Walking With ‘Trane’: A dance ode to the art of John Coltrane

Opinion
The key to raising happy kids? The latest trend says do as the Dutch do.

Technology

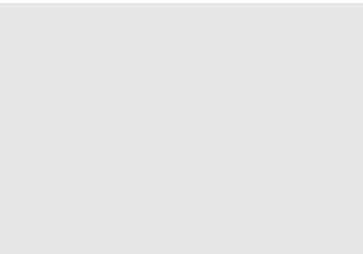

Most Americans want to let cities build and sell homegrown Internet service

Analysis
A chicken nugget-loving teen is on track to break the all-time retweet record

The U.S. government has withdrawn its request ordering Twitter to identify a Trump critic

Uber fires back at Waymo’s lawsuit alleging theft of trade secrets

Business

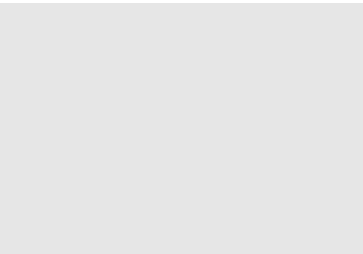

Analysis
Want to boycott United? Good luck with that.

America has extra time to file taxes this year. You can thank D.C. for that.

‘Re-accommodate’? United ridiculed for corporate speak response to passenger dragging.

Read the latest from Capital Business

Federal Government

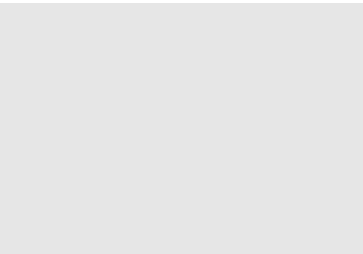

Perspective
USPS agrees to $49 million settlement after having long ‘dawdled’ in payments to beneficiaries

Perspective
Feds’ best places to work might not be so good for long

Perspective
EPA staffer leaves with a bang, blasting agency policies under Trump

New withdrawal options for TSP investors proposed

Real Estate

Toll Brothers offers luxury homes in Gainesville, Va., for adults 55 and older

Planning to borrow from your 401(k) for that home down payment? It may not be as easy as you think.

Annapolis church-turned-condo, with stained-glass windows, lists for $948,000

How to fix that scary roof-popping noise

Terms of Use

Digital Products Terms of Sale
Print Products Terms of Sale
Terms of Service
Privacy Policy
Submissions and Discussion Policy
RSS Terms of Service
Ad Choices

Get Us

Home Delivery
Digital Subscription
Gift Subscriptions
Mobile & Apps
Newsletters & Alerts
Washington Post Live
Reprints & Permissions
Post Store
Photo Store
e-Replica

Contact Us

Help & Contact Info
Reader Representative
Advertise
News Service Syndicate

About Us

In the Community
Careers
PostPoints
Newspaper in Education
Digital Publishing Guidelines
Today’s Paper
WP BrandStudio
Events